

SHARING OUR STORIES TO SAVE LIVES, INC.™

Protecting Children And Families From The Dangers of Prescription Opioids

MISSION STATEMENT AND SHARED VALUES

Sharing Our Stories to Save Lives, Inc.™ (SOSTSL™) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit public benefit organization comprised of family members and friends of victims of America's 20-year Opioid Epidemic that has claimed over 400,000 lives so far, surpassing 70 years of U.S. military casualties of war, including the Korean War, Vietnam, War in Afghanistan, and Iraq War.

Our mission is to protect youth and families from the harm that can arise from using opioid painkillers casually. We accomplish our mission by developing, compiling, promoting and maintaining free online Customized Opioid Awareness Workbooks for use by teachers and students nationwide. When the U.S. Opioid Epidemic began in 1999, no one understood why Americans were suddenly dying from opioid overdoses, including junior high, high school and college students. Since 1999, a large number of parents across the country continue to discover that their junior high and high school aged children are either unwittingly addicted to opioids or have suffered an opioid overdose.

SOSTSL members choose to have an active role in reducing and eliminating our nation's opioid epidemic by building Customized Opioid Awareness Workbooks in which we share true stories about individual overdose victims. These workbooks also provide students with information and resources about the neurological changes, symptoms, and treatments for opioid addiction which includes data about the destructive, chronic and sometimes fatal cycle of Opioid Use Disorder (OUD) and Dopamine Deficiency that ultimately claimed the lives of our loved ones.

We, at "Sharing Our Stories to Save Lives™," realize our goals through the shared values of dedication, compassion, courage, and integrity. We readily partner with others who share our values and an interest in furthering our mission.

SOSTSL™ requires donations to accomplish our goals. All donations received are solely used for sustainability, transparency, compliance-verification, and comprehensive educational campaigns.

Through "Sharing Our Stories to Save Lives™," we have the opportunity to turn our tragic loss into productive and meaningful outcomes—protecting youth and families from the harm that can arise from using opioid painkillers casually.
